Local Children's Book Author & Illustrator E.G. Ryan Book Signing, Featuring South Bay Musician Rex Bailey SUNDAY, March 25, 2012 from 9AM until 2 PM Corner Store, 1118 W. 37th Street, San Pedro

EG Ryan, author and illustrator of the children's books The Dreamies, Moon Balloons, Collect-Its, Foxy the Cat, and Spunky the Dog, will be holding a book signing on Sunday, March 25, 2012 at the Corner Store in San Pedro. Come and enjoy a delicious cup of coffee or tea and amazing pastries. Mingle with friends, neighbors, and local politicians, and have a look at these wonderful books that have parents and teachers raving, books that send their positive messages to children of all ages.

Susan Brooks, Rancho Palos Verdes Councilwoman and Special Education Teacher says of the books, "A color burst of creativity with a 'Looking-glass like' approach, teaches children the 'art of maintaining order' amid the chaos of today's 'stuff-filled' world life. A fun learning experience for children of all ages. Love it."

Barbara Ferraro, Palos Verdes Teacher and former Mayor of Rancho Palos Verdes, "Wonderfully lyrical and the illustrations are a delight for kids of all ages!"

Mary Ellen Haworth, Director of Miraleste Early Learning Academy and Palos Verdes Teacher says, "The Dreamies is a sweet story with vibrant illustrations that engages preschoolers right from the start."

South Bay musician Rex Bailey will perform music inspired by E.G. Ryan's Books. Rex is a singer, songwriter, and multi-instrumentalist. He is a member of the Irish group The Shillaly Brothers, whose song "Pop" was the theme music in John Gray's 2011 feature film White Irish Drinkers. The group's performance of the song was considered for nomination of an academy award. Rex's song "Soul Surfers" will be heard in the upcoming film High School, starring Adrien Brody.
